TWENTY

hen dye meets fiber, color comes to life.

Wool, silk, cashmere, cotton, mohair—each fiber takes dye in a different way. It's the sum of their parts that make Noro yarns so rich and unique, adding to the complexity and depth of color. This season, look for saturated, seductive jewel tones, rich reds, ruddy browns, and burgundies reminiscent of aged wine, offset by royal blues and deep cobalt, with amethyst and citrine acting as accents. Gray, in all its alluring shades, holds pride of place as the neutral of the year. Enjoy this intriguing palette as you cast on this season.

FINISHING TOUCHES

Accessorize in style with quick-to-knit projects in colorful yarns from Noro's sister brands.

Araucania Yarns: Sotaqui and Huasco DK

Juniper Moon Farm: Herriot and Herriot Great

Queensland Collection: Wistari and Brisbane

Louisa Harding: Susurro and Esquel

Harding continues her "variations on a theme" design series with two fairytale-inspired booklets, each with patterns for eight garments and six accessories. Susurro (left) features feminine knits in satiny baby alpaca; Esquel (bottom right) captures the rugged spirit of its namesake tweed (top right).

FIBER FACTS:

Why Noro yarns are greater than the sum of their parts

By Carol J. Sulcoski

PHOTOGRAPH BY ROSE CALLAHAN

When we think about Noro yarns, we automatically think of color—indeed, the Noro brand is synonymous with its adventurous use. But perhaps when we ponder the reasons Noro yarns are so special, we should also be thinking about fiber—the gorgeous raw ingredients that comprise your favorite skeins.

HAVE YOU ANY WOOL?

Look at the labels from a wide selection of Noro yarns and you'll notice that each one lists some percentage of wool—at least 10 percent, many of them even more. Why the use of sheep's wool in virtually all Noro yarns? When I posed that question to Eisaku Noro, founder of the company that bears his name, he warned me that he could easily spend a month discussing wool alone: "Wool is so important and special to me and to the world." A major reason for Noro's reliance on wool as a primary ingredient in his yarns—or, rather, a major set of reasons—is the advantage wool has over other fibers. It's a natural, breathable fiber; it has elasticity and strength; it insulates; it repels water and allows moisture to evaporate; and it is non-flammable. Takuo Noro, Eisaku Noro's son and the company's operations manager, sums it up best: "Wool is the king of fibers."

Apart from its many physical advantages, wool has two other qualities that help explain its importance. First is its receptivity to dye. "Its outstanding dye affinity enables [wool] to express sensitive color differences," says Takuo Noro, a critical quality in a brand that is renowned for its use of color. Second is its ability to play well with others; wool's "entwining" nature makes it particularly suited to blending with other types of fiber.

Not all wool is fungible, of course. Differences among sheep breeds are one thing that the Noro company considers when sourcing wool. Some sheep breeds are known for wool that is soft and lustrous; other breeds produce harder wools that resist friction; still others produce wool with longer fiber length and crimp. "Differences in temperature, humidity, rainfall, grass, the mowing period and the seasons also have an effect on the wool," notes designer and author Jane Ellison in Knitting Noro (Potter Craft). "As a company, Noro thoroughly researches the staple length, thickness, weight, expansion, luster and suppleness of each fiber." Choosing the precise type of wool best suited for Noro yarns is an area in which Eisaku Noro excels. Ellison claims that Mr. Noro can assess various qualities of wool, like staple length and thickness, by touch alone.

ADDING TO THE MIX

While some Noro yarns, like Kureyon, are made entirely from sheep's wool, most Noro yarns contain a blend of fibers. For example, Silk Garden is equal parts silk and mohair (with a smaller percentage of wool thrown into the mix), while Taiyo is a blend of cotton, silk, nylon and wool. Given wool's stellar qualities, why the addition of other ingredients?

Well, it's human nature to crave variety. By offering different blends, the Noro company allows crafters to sample many types of materials, everything from alpaca to viscose. Says Eisaku Noro: "We use a [proprietary] method to blend fibers so that the unique characteristics of the materials used are not lost in the process." Proper blending ensures that knitters are able to savor the luster and shine of the silk in Taiyo and revel in the incredible softness of angora when working with Shiraito.

But to some extent, it always comes back to color. Each type of fiber has different visual properties—silk, for example, has sheen, while angora has a fuzzy halo and a more matte finish. Mixing different fibers with wool "provides differences in color tones, which makes the yarn look three-dimensional and helps it express complex color variations," Eisaku Noro explains. Look closely at a skein of the new Silk Garden Solo. Although the yarn is dyed in solid colors, it's easy to see how the blend of mohair, silk and wool gives the color richness and complexity. A skein of Silk Garden Solo isn't just blue, or crimson, or rose-pink; it contains numerous closely related tones of each color within each strand. That complexity is magnified tenfold in Noro's self-striping yarns, which include as many as six, eight or more individual shades, each glowing in a different way as the individual component fibers uniquely reflect and absorb light.

BUILDING THE PERFECT YARN

With all the fibers that the world has to offer, creating the perfect yarn can be a challenge. For the most part, Noro yarns tend to be spun from natural fibers rather than synthetic, with an emphasis on fibers derived from animals (wool, alpaca, cashmere, mohair). "Fibers derived from animals have a natural warmth and feel that synthetic fibers cannot provide," Eisaku Noro explains. "We also use fibers from plants such as cotton, but animal-derived fibers are better materials for giving the yarn texture and expression."

Deciding which fibers to add, and in what percentages, is both an art and a science. The science part of the equation looks at the physical properties of each fiber. Is a yarn intended for the fall/winter season or for spring? The answer plays a role in deciding which fibers are added to the mix. Fibers derived from plants are cooler to wear and good for warm-weather yarns (think cotton and bamboo). Other fibers, like mohair and cashmere, are warm and insulate well, making them more appropriate for fall and winter yarns. Another factor is the intended use of the yarn. # FIBER FACTS:

Garden Sock, for example, include a greater percentage of nylon than other Noro yarns because nylon resists wear and adds to the overall strength of the blend.

Matching fiber to project

So many different fibers, so many exquisite blends. Use this handy chart to help you match fiber to project, considering how the qualities of each ingredient in the yarn relate to the type of garment you're making.

WOOL: a great all-purpose fiber; insulates; has elasticity for manipulating stitches; provides good stitch definition; non-superwash wool tends to felt well

MOHAIR: strength; sheen; may have a slight halo; very warm

COTTON: cooler than animal fibers; very little elasticity; heavier than wool; absorbs moisture

SILK: strength; sheen and luster; terrific hand; drapes well; cooler than animal fibers

ANGORA: super-warm; has a fluffy halo; more fragile than other fibers; extremely soft

NYLON: holds constituent fibers together; strong; resists wear

CASHMERE: warm but light; more fragile than other fibers; extremely soft hand

VISCOSE: cooler than animal fibers; sheen; drapes well; not very elastic

But creating beautiful yarns is an art too, and so scores of less tangible qualities help determine which fibers comprise a yarn and in what percentages. For example, certain types of yarn—alpaca and mohair, in particular—have a natural halo, a soft fuzz around the strand created by loose fibers. A master of yarn construction may deliberately opt for one of these when seeking to create a yarn with a soft, dreamy, almost undulating finish (think of the cozy Nadeshiko). Silk is known for its luster and shine as well as its strength; adding a portion of silk to a yarn gives extra depth to the colors and adds a unique hand—what you feel when you knit with perennial favorite Silk Garden. A fiber may excel at draping—viscose, silk and alpaca are excellent for creating yarns with subtle movement and flow, which is why Takeuma, with 32% silk and 18% viscose, will have more movement and drape than, say, all-wool Kureyon. Cashmere adds extra softness and warmth without weight, giving Shiraito its cozy feel in a light fingering weight. Angora is delightfully fluffy and gives a very distinctive look to yarns like Kirara.

When it comes down to it, however, there's no substitute for experience and artistic vision. Says Eisaku Noro, "We blend many different materials and dye a wide variety of colors on a trial basis. Then we do our best to create our own distinctive yarns while placing high importance on the ideal image we have, although it may take time." Just as a chef selects top-quality ingredients and carefully blends them together, so Eisaku Noro selects top-quality fibers and spins them together using his experience, knowledge and inspiration.

IN SEARCH of NORO

By Leslie Petrovski

What do you do when you need that extra ball of Hitsuji?

ROSE CALLAHAN

Elena Fitzpatrick of Salem, Indiana, had developed a burning desire to knit the Forest Fiesta jacket, a cuddly, striped cocoon of a sweater from Sandra McIver's popular book Knit, Swirl! The pattern called for 1,875 yards of Noro Silk Garden Lite.

Perusing her Noro stash library on Ravelry, Fitzpatrick discovered she had several colorways of Kureyon and Silk Garden Lite, but not enough to complete the project. She did, however, possess several skeins of Silk Garden Lite #2031, a riotous blend of blues, turquoise and green blending into umbers and gold. It was a start.

So she put out ISOs and DISOs (Internet vernacular for "in search of" and "desperately in search of") on Ravelry forums, including the popular Nuts for Noro group. No luck. So she began searching other Ravelers' stashes for the elusive colorway, private-messaging half a dozen or so likely owners.

"I entitled the pm's 'Sorry for this rude request' or 'Rude request for your Noro,'" she explains. "I sent requests to seven or eight people and had two or three positive answers. However, one was in the process of moving and one couldn't find her skeins, so I bought from the third wonderfully kind person. I think I paid $45 for 5 skeins."

All in all, she estimates, it took more than two weeks of searching, cajoling and bargaining to secure those mission-critical skeins.

Fitzpatrick is not alone. At some point, most knitters arrive at the head-smacking juncture where they realize they've under-bought for a project, want to knit that shawl in cerulean (and nothing else will do), or have fallen head over heels for a magazine-cover knit that's gone viral and the yarn has sold out...everywhere.

Noro yarns are a special case. Because Noro is a fashion yarn line (the company releases new colors and yarns twice a year), products are constantly changing. This means that older colors and yarns regularly must make way for new seasonal offerings. According to Noro: World of Nature, "With his colors, Noro seeks to capture nature. In nature things are not one distinct color. If you look closely, they are always many colors flowing together. These colors exist only for a moment. Nature changes with time and age and weather. So it is with Noro colors—they must be constantly evolving and changing as nature does."

Whether you're on the hunt for Noro or another type of yarn, sourcing an extra skein (or six) of a particular yarn can be daunting, especially when calls to local yarn shops and cursory Internet searches have turned up empty. If you're searching for a special dye lot, the search can be even more complex. Kim Burk, a knitter from Playa del Rey, California, and a member of the Nuts for Noro group on Ravelry, says that if she were "in search of," she would start by trying to mine the stashes of her knitter friends. "We're all crazy about Noro," she says, "so we have a lot of it squirreled away."

Ravelry, too, is a gold mine for hard-to-find yarns. The stash feature on Ravelry allows Ravelers to keep a digital record of their stashes so they can match yarns to projects and search their stashes online without having to go diving into their bins. It also makes it possible for other knitters to search those stashes and reach out when in need. Today,

Chevrons unraveled

The natural undulations of chevrons are a perfect match for color-changing yarns. Effects vary based on the width of the knitting—narrower strips show deeper stripes of color; conversely, the wider the piece, the thinner the color striping (examples shown left). On pages 24 and 25, you'll find two more samples: in the first, the color striping is stable; in the second, a zigzag effect is created with stitch patterning.

NORO Fall/Winter 2014

COLOR IT IN!

What if you could take every drab detail of the long winter months—every snowbank, every leafless tree—and paint it over in a rich, vibrant rainbow? Alas, that's a skill limited to sprites and pixies. But we can illuminate our winter knits. Until we find a magic wand, we'll stick to our needles and hooks—and the wizardry found in every skein of Noro.

Take 20 must-knit accessories, then add a bevy of infinitely-shaded colorways.
The result? The perfect finishing touch for absolutely every look.

THE RIGHT STUFF!

JILL GUTMAN SCHOENFUSS

Schoenfuss puts a colorful spin on the traditional tweed cape, working the magenta, cobalt, rust and emerald tones of Noro Hanabatake colorway #7 into woven-look stitch patterns. The main body is worked in half-linen stitch, while the top edge hugs the shoulders in half-linen stitch ribbing.

It's worked flat and seamed at the back in finishing.

2

EMMY MUDGE

A cute confection, Mudge's close-fitting beanie is knit in the round using a single skein of Noro Hanabatake. The main texture pattern, worked by knitting the second stitch on the needle through the back loop, then slipping stitches and passing them over, creates a swirl effect that complements the marzipan shades of colorway #3.

SHAINA BILOW

Bilow's textured cowl adds a striking pop of color to any ensemble, alternating two intense Noro Kureopatora colorways: crimson, lime and saffron #1021 and pine, purple and burgundy #1019. Knit in the round, it samples a different stitch pattern—broken rib, seed, stockinette, double seed—in every stripe.

FRAN GROSS

For her soft tote, Gross isolates several different shades within two colorways of Noro Shiraito—brown, blue, seafoam and dark sienna #37 and magenta, lilac, jade and orange #42—to knit a series of striped and intarsia-knit colorblocks. It's worked in five panels that are seamed in finishing. The straps are knit in seed stitch using leather cord.

SANDI PROSSER

Prosser's scarf is innovative in its simplicity. Worked in a wide panel of lattice patterning, it can fasten through any eyelet with a single button, allowing it to be worn as a cowl, hood, shawlette or cravat. Ribbed edges offer polish. It's a fitting backdrop to the spectacular scarlet and ultramarine hues of Noro Kureopatora colorway #1024.

RACHEL MAURER

Maurer works the twisted-stitch earflaps of her chullo before casting on stitches for the ribbed border. The subtle fluctuations of purple and blue in Noro Silk Garden Sock colorway #373 serve as a backdrop to the intricate allover patterning, knit in narrow twisted-stitch columns and motifs worked with increases and decreases. A pair of tassels top the crown.

YOKO HATTA

With their basso-relievo bobble-and-vine patterning, Hatta's mittens seem sculpted from marble in Noro Silk Garden Sock colorway #269. They're knit in the round from the ribbed cuff and shaped with decreases at the fingertips. The thumb opening is worked over two rows with bound-off and cast-on stitches, with stitches picked up in finishing.

RACHEL MAURER

Using short-row shaping, Maurer creates a subtle color-shift effect in her seed-stitch cowl, knit in the round using two colorways of Noro Silk Garden Lite. Divided by continuous diagonal lines, the stripes in ruby, heather, gray and delft #2087 and navy, purple, bronze and turquoise #2088 seem to flow directly into one another.

CHRISTY KAY MORSE

This page: With its deep cushiony patterning and extended length, Morse's scarf is the quintessential winter accessory. Worked in a combination of ribbing and traveling cables, the gentle wave pattern is fully reversible. The neutral taupe and gray and black shades of Noro Shiro colorway #366 accented with seafoam, make this a great knit for him or her.

HEIDI TODD KOZAR

Opposite: Kozar's serpentine cabled socks are viridescent with a touch of wine—in Noro Silk Garden Sock colorway #399. The cuff, cast onto two needles for extra elasticity, is worked in a staggered twisted-rib pattern that flows into a latticework of twisted-stitch cables. The heel is worked with slipped stitch for added strength.

10

IRINA POLUDNENKO

Poludnenko employs modular techniques for her garter-stitch wave scarf, which alternates coordinating colorways of Noro Shiro—pale colorway #2 and bright colorway #6. Each arch-shaped section is picked up and knit from the last and knit with decrease shaping from the outer edge in.

The center is fastened with a three-needle bind-off.

CAROL SULCOSKI

In Sulcoski's slouchy beret, knit in the round using Noro Kureopatora, the reverse-stockinette-stitch background blurs the slate, pearl, ebony and powder-pink hues of color-way #1001. It features six twisted cables that unfurl at intervals as they approach the crown, which is shaped with rapid decreases.

12

THE RIGHT STUFF!

YOKO HATTA

Knit in the round, Hatta's slouchy gauntlets add an element of punk cool to any outfit. Tweedy turquoise, apricot, jet and purple Noro Janome colorway #8 is further blurred in an allover knit/purl texture pattern. The thumb is worked like a two-row buttonhole and completed in finishing, with stitches picked up around the opening and knit in stockinette stitch.

THE RIGHT STUFF!

BARB BROWN

Both charmingly pretty and comfortably elastic, the lacy rib pattern on Brown's socks flows evenly into the smooth, close-fitting wide ribbing at the instep.

Sanguine in Noro Silk Garden Sock colorway #84, they're knit from the ribbed cuff down to the toe, which is grafted closed in finishing. Slipped stitches reinforce the heel.

MATTHEW SCHRANK

Fully reversible in cushiony garter stitch, Schrank's triangle shawl is exuberantly autumnal in tweedy orange, charcoal, chartreuse and hot pink Noro Janome colorway #3. Worked out from a garter-stitch tab, it's shaped with increases at the edges and center. Decorative eyelet trios are interspersed throughout.

ELLEN LIGUORI

Above: The serrated chevron patterns of Liguori's oversized scarf juxtapose the horizontally banded spring green, lilac and neutral hues of Noro Kureopatora colorway #1016. Worked with knit and purl stitches, the allover patterning forms an embossed effect. The edges, worked in seed stitch, are framed by narrow stockinette columns.

DEBBIE O'NEILL

With an interplay of zigzag eyelets and garter-stitch blocks, the ribbon lace pattern worked throughout O'Neill's cowl creates a ripple effect in the turquoise, mauve, blue and violet-hued stripes of Noro Shiro's colorway #6. Knit in the round, it's deep enough to double as a capelet and can be worn wrapped twice on chillier days.

17

THE RIGHT STUFF!

LISA CRAIG

A sweet accent to any outer-wear look, Craig's lacy cuffs isolate the pastel tones of Noro Silk Garden Lite colorway #2094. The buttoned wristbands, punctuated with a row of eyelets, are worked in garter stitch; switching to larger needles and working increases in every stitch shapes the hands, which are knit in a lace pattern and edged in garter stitch.

18

19

DEBBIE O'NEILL

Right and opposite: Knit seamlessly in the round, O'Neill's jaunty pompom-topped toque sports an allover rippling cable pattern that causes the coral, salmon, stone and lichen shades of Noro Silk Garden Lite colorway #2094 to gently undulate. Decreases shape the puckered crown. The wide ribbed border offers a snug fit at the ears.

ERICA KEMPF

Kempf's long fingerless mitts take on an ombré effect in sunset-shaded Noro Kureopatora colorway #1011.

Knit in the round with a firm tension, they're dotted with a flirty smocking pattern that accentuates the yarn's texture. The thumb gusset is worked with fully fashioned increase shaping. Ribbed borders finish the look.

CHERYL MURRAY

If Noro's colors are a work of art, Murray's cardigan puts them on display. The outer edges—worked in Noro Silk Garden Solo royal blue colorway #3—frame the orchid, turquoise, blue and mint shades of Silk Garden colorway #373. Knit flat to effect a balanced stripe sequence, the all-over cable-and-rib pattern produces a naturally fitted fabric. Wide ribbed borders offset the gently flared skirt and set-in sleeves.

A close-up photograph of a woman with long blonde hair and blue eyeshadow. She is wearing a textured, multi-colored knit sweater with shades of purple, blue, and green. Her hands are clasped together, and she is looking down at them. The lighting is soft and focused on her face and hands.

Soothing blues,
stirring reds,

an undeniable
aura. But pair them with a spotlighted shade, and suddenly the mood changes.

Perfect Harmony

22

YOKO HATTA

Hatta does the boyfriend sweater one better, arranging a sequence of colorblocks over the body and sleeves of her crew-neck pullover. It's knit flat in an all-over pattern of twisted, braided and latticed cables. Noro Silk Garden Solo's tweedy tonal colorways—in strawberry ice #10, plum #8 and cherry #7—make a delectable trio. The raglan yoke and elongated silhouette lend a sporty, streamlined finish.

TAMMY EIGEMAN THOMPSON

Thompson channels Carnaby Street style—a crucial trend this season—in her ornately cabled turtleneck, working a Victorian-esque silhouette in the mod green, gold, rust and navy shades of Noro Silk Garden colorway #403. Placed at the yoke and ribbed collar, a block of charcoal Silk Garden Solo colorway #9 adds a neutral note. Like the body, the long puff sleeves are knit in the round to the underarm.

ONE COWL THREE WAYS

LACE

CABLES

JACQUELINE VAN DILLEN

Worked flat and joined asymmetrically, van Dillen's cowls are luxuriously soft and warm in Noro Shiraito. The leaf lace cowl, whose dynamic chevrons are painted with bright, feminine colorway #42, features naturally scalloped edges. The cabled cowl, vivid in high-contrast colorway #34, goes big on texture with a double-seed-stitch center panel and cable and leaf-motif borders. Fully reversible, the plush garter-stitch cowl flaunts every cooling facet of colorway #26.

COMFORT ZONE

JEN GEIGLEY

Fashion gets cozy in Geigley's oversized vest. Worked in seed stitch, the tweedy main fabric is knit using one strand each of Noro Silk Garden Lite's salmon, green and taupe colorway #2094 and Silk Garden Solo's blush colorway #10. The ribbed borders are knit in the round using two strands of Silk Garden Solo held together. The neck edge folds over naturally, forming a smart shawl collar.

COMFORT ZONE

EANNIE CHIN

Opposite: Simple and sweet, Chin's crew-neck pullover puts the subtle confetti-on-cream tones of Noro Silk Garden Solo colorway #1 on full display. It's knit flat in an all-over bamboo texture stitch; ribbed borders add polish. The drop shoulders are joined with a three-needle bind-off. A true three-season piece thanks to the elbow-length sleeves, it easily dresses up or down.

STEVEN HICKS

This page: Hicks's rectangular poncho lets you drape yourself in the lime, aquamarine, black and silver shades of Noro Silk Garden Sock colorway #272. Knit at a larger-than-usual gauge to create a light-weight fabric, it's worked on the bias with increases to the neck opening, which is placed asymmetrically to create the flowing sleeve, then rejoined and worked with decreases to the opposite corner.

An essential tee, an avant-garde topper—you'll have just as much fun knitting these layering looks as you will working them into your wardrobe.

COMFORT ZONE

CYNTHIA YANOK

Yanok's oversized tunic is a charming canvas for Noro Silk Garden colorway #378's mahogany, olive, black and jade tones. It's worked in two pieces, with side shaping forming the elbow-length armholes and gently sloping shoulders. The ribbed cowl collar is picked up and knit in the round after the pieces have been seamed. Side vents and naturally rolling edges add a jaunty note.

Keep the focus on flattering shapes and spectacular colors with easy-to-knit, easy-to-wear stockinette stitch.

MARI LYNN PATRICK

Patrick gives the classic V-neck cardigan a modern reimagining, shaping a dramatic batwing silhouette that's offset by narrow sleeves and a wide ribbed hem. Decrease shaping streamlines the drop shoulders. The ribbed front bands are worked separately and sewn to the body in finishing. The high-contrast pink, off-white and green colors of Noro Taiyo colorway #48 give it a preppy air.

29

COMFORT ZONE

PAT OLSKI

This page: Olski riffs on the wrap top, working a blouson drop-shoulder silhouette in the flowery colors of Noro Hanabatake. The back and sleeves are knit in verdant colorway #3, while the front bands—shaped with increases and short rows—are knit in meadowy colorway #4. Rosy Silk Garden Solo colorway #8 trims the cuffs and intarsia-knit front edges.

CHRISTY KAY MORSE

Opposite: Reverse stockinette stitch blurs the lines of Morse's batwing pullover, knit top-down in the tint-and-shade fuchsia, turquoise, emerald and gold hues of Noro Silk Garden colorway #211. It's worked flat in one piece after the sleeve cuffs are complete and then closed at the center front with an exposed seam. The coordinating garter-stitch Möbius cowl is knit in the round using silky faux-fur Luzia from Louisa Harding.

COMFORT ZONE

Only you need to know that your new statement piece was such a simple knit.
Just sit back,
start stitching,
and let Noro's colors work their magic.

STACEY GERBMAN

Gerbman's A-line raglan tunic is an optical marvel: Knit in a slip-stitch ladder pattern, two colorways of Noro Kureyon—moss, navy and violet #188 and teal, raspberry, ebony and orange #170—effect the illusion of simultaneous contrast. The elbow-length sleeves and turtle-neck collar, which is picked up and knit in the round after the pieces have been seamed, are knit in colorway #170 alone.

I HEART NORO

BONNIE FRANZ

Franz's block blanket features intarsia hearts knit in the passionate pink, scarlet and purple hues of colorway #102. Worked in earthy colorway #343 and cerulean colorway #344, the backgrounds hint at a sand-and-sky landscape. One-row garter-stitch borders are picked up and knit along each edge after the blocks have been seamed.

A classic motif of Noro Kureyon will set your own heart all aflutter.

A close-up photograph of a woman with long, wavy red hair. She is wearing a large, textured shawl or wrap with horizontal stripes in shades of dark grey, green, yellow, and orange. She is also wearing a small, round, dark earring. The background is a soft-focus image of pink and yellow flowers.

34

TACTILE LUXURY

CRISTINA MERSHON

Mershon's fully reversible cowl intersperses the green, gold and rust shades of Silk Garden Lite colorway #2089 with solid gray Silk Garden Solo colorway #9. Forming the scaly pattern, each stripe is worked in alternating sets of half-double crochet and slip stitches, all worked through the back loop for added texture. It's crocheted lengthwise in one wide strip and joined with a back seam.

CRISTINA MERSHON

Worked from side to side using a raised half-double crochet stitch, the ribbed fabric of Mershon's wrap highlights the various autumnal rainbow shades of Silk Garden Sock colorway #211. It features narrow thread-through loops that are formed by working an unattached chain into part of a row. Wear it as shown for a casual daytime look or off the shoulder for added drama.

JILL WRIGHT

The duotone effect of Wright's short, deep cowl—worked in a single skein of Silk Garden Sock—is the result of turning the work at the conclusion of each round. Working double crochet stitches alternately into the front and back posts creates the undulating thatched pattern. Elegant emerald, forest green and wine colorway #399 easily dresses up or down over dresses or tees.

ANN E. SMITH

Worked in textured double crochet throughout, Smith's oversize cowl drapes sumptuously whether worn long or doubled. Back-post double crochet stitches, worked intermittently in every other row, create ridged perforations throughout the fabric. Crocheted lengthwise, it evokes a winter landscape with the grayscale, olive, brown and sapphire tones of Taiyo Sock colorway #22.

1. Taiyo Sock, 3.5oz/100g; 462yds/422m. Taiyo's little sister ups the cotton, nylon and wool content (50% cotton, 17% wool, 17% nylon, 16% silk) for a fabric that breathes and wicks moisture away.

2. Shiraito, 1.75oz/50g; 198yds/181m. Named for the protected Shiraito Falls near Mount Fuji, this sumptuous 45% cashmere, 45% angora, 10% wool blend is spun into a widely varied thick-and-thin weight that undulates like falling water.

3. Silk Garden Sock, 3.5oz/100g; 328yds/300m. The fast-striping colorways of Silk Garden's littlest sister add depth to lace and fine-weight garments. A generous strand of nylon strengthens socks. 40% wool, 25% silk, 25% nylon, 10% mohair.

4. Shiro, 1.75oz/50g; 137yds/125m. Named for the color white, this yarn transitions from bright, vivid hues to natural, undyed colors, developing stripes of various gradations. 40% wool, 30% cashmere, 30% silk.

5. Janome, 1.75oz/50g; 164yds/150m. Fresh colorways are anchored by browns and blacks; the silk content gives this DK-weight yarn—whose name means "eye of the snake"—a shimmering elegance. 60% silk, 40% wool.

6. Silk Garden Lite, 3.5oz/100g; 137yds/125. Lending seasonal versatility to Noro's classic silk blend, this DK weight (which has the same 45% silk, 45% kid mohair and 10% lamb's wool content as Silk Garden) shines in an array of vibrant jewel tones.

7. Kureopatora, 3.5oz/100g; 295yds/270m. Japanese for "Cleopatra," this lofty 100% wool yarn, with its bright, lively colorways, has a presence as striking and unforgettable as its namesake.

8. Hanabatake, 1.75oz/50g; 125yds/114m. This worsted-weight yarn lives up to its meaning—"flower garden"—by employing a mix of bright, jewel, pastel and neutral tones, all wrapped up in one 55% wool, 35% silk, 10% mohair ply.

9. Silk Garden, 1.75oz/50g; 110yds/100m. 45% silk, 45% kid mohair and 10% lamb's wool combine in a veritable garden of fibers. Loosely plied silk fibers take dyes differently, adding a rustic touch to the elegant silken sheen.

10. Silk Garden Solo, 1.75oz/50g; 110yds/101m. Silk Garden's solid cousin features the same fiber content—45% silk, 45% mohair, 10% wool—in jewel and neutral tones, some flecked with tiny bursts of color.

11. Taiyo, 3.5oz/100g; 219yds/200m. Named for the sun, Taiyo can also refer to a cheery personality; its name reflects the line's super-bright colorways. Cotton (40%) is spun with 30% silk, 15% wool and 15% nylon for strength.

12. Kureyon, 1.75oz/50g; 110yds/100m. A play on the word crayon, the name couldn't be more fitting: With nearly as many color combinations as a 120-color box of Crayolas, this 100% wool is a true Noro classic.

- 14 (16) skeins of Noro/KFI Silk Garden in #211 (A)
- One each size 8 (5mm) circular needles, 16"/40cm and 32"/80cm long, OR SIZE TO OBTAIN GAUGE
- Size H/8 (5mm) crochet hook

Cowl

- 3 balls (each 43yds/39m) of Louisa Harding/KFI Luzia (viscose/nylon) in #02 ruby (B)

Gauge

17 sts and 26 rows = 4"/10cm over St st using size 8 (5mm) needle.

TAKE TIME TO CHECK GAUGE.

Provisional Cast On

Using scrap yarn and crochet hook, ch the number of sts to cast on plus a few extra. Cut a tail and pull the tail through the last chain. With knitting needle and yarn, pick up and knit the stated number of sts through the "purl bumps" on the back of the chain.

To remove scrap yarn chain, when instructed, pull out the tail from the last crochet stitch. Gently and slowly pull on the tail to unravel the crochet stitches, carefully placing each released knit stitch on a needle.

Short Row Wrap & Turn (w&t)

on RS row (on WS row)

- 1) Wyib (wyif), sl next st purlwise.
- 2) Move yarn between the needles to the front (back).
- 3) Sl the same st back to LH needle. Turn work. One st is wrapped.
- 4) When working the wrapped st, insert RH needle under the wrap and work it tog with the corresponding st on needle.

Stitches Used

RLI (right lifted increase)

Insert RH needle into right shoulder of next st on LH needle, place on LH needle and knit—1 st inc'd.

LLI (left lifted increase)

Insert LH needle into left shoulder of st 2 rows below st just worked on RH needle and knit—1 st inc'd.

Notes

- 1) Cast-on row is at shoulder edge. Upper back is worked first, with short-row shoulder shaping, then fronts, to lower edge of sleeve. Body is then worked in the round to lower edge, with visible seam at center front.
- 2) Take measurements for sleeve lengths at side edges, length measurement at center will be approx  $1\frac{3}{4}''/4.5\text{cm}$  longer than length at cuffs due to short row shaping.

Back

With longer size 8 (5mm) needle and A, cast on 252 sts using provisional cast-on. P 1 row, k 1 row.

* GUIDELINES ONLY: The above reflect the most commonly used gauges and needle or hook sizes for specific yarn categories.

** Lace weight yarns are usually knitted or crocheted on larger needles and hooks to create lacy, openwork patterns. Accordingly, a gauge range is difficult to determine. Always follow the gauge stated in your pattern.

*** Steel crochet hooks are sized differently from regular hooks—the higher the number, the smaller the hook, which is the reverse of regular hook sizing.

GAUGE

Knitting gauge—the number of stitches and rows per inch—determines the size of the garment you are making. Every knitting pattern states the gauge, or “tension,” on which the sizing is based. For successful results, it is essential to test your knitting against this measurement before you start a project. Make a test swatch at least 4”/-10cm square, using the yarn and needle size called for in the pattern. Then measure your swatch using a ruler or a knit gauge tool. If the number of stitches and rows does not match the pattern’s gauge, you must change your needle size. An easy rule to follow is:
TO GET FEWER STITCHES TO THE INCH/CM, USE A LARGER NEEDLE; TO GET MORE STITCHES TO THE INCH/CM, USE A SMALLER NEEDLE. Try different needle sizes until you get the proper stitch and row gauge.

GLOSSARY

bind off

To finish off an edge and keep stitches from unraveling by lifting the first stitch over the second, the second over the third, etc. (U.K.: cast off)

bind off in ribbing

Maintain the rib pattern as you bind off (knit the knit stitches; purl the purl stitches). (U.K.: cast off in ribbing)

cast on

Form a foundation row by making specified number of loops on the knitting needle.

decrease

Reduce the number of stitches in a row (i.e., knit 2 together; purl 2 together).

increase

Add to the number of stitches in a row (i.e., knit in front and back of stitch).

knitwise

Insert the needle into the stitch as if you were going to knit it.

make one

Insert tip of LH needle from front to back under the strand between the last stitch worked and the next stitch on the needle. Knit into the back loop to increase one stitch.

make one purl stitch

With the needle tip, lift the strand between the last stitch worked and the next stitch on left-hand needle and purl it. One purl stitch has been added.

no stitch

On some charts, “no stitch” is indicated with shaded spaces where stitches have been decreased or not yet made. In such cases, work the stitches of the chart, skipping over the “no stitch” spaces.

place markers

Loop a piece of contrasting yarn or a purchased stitch marker onto the needle.

pick up and knit (purl)

Knit (or purl) into the loops along an edge.

purlwise:

Insert the needle into the stitch as if you were going to purl it.

selvage stitch

Edge stitch that helps make seaming easier.

skip

Skip specified number of stitches of the previous row and work into next stitch. (U.K.: miss)

slip, slip, knit (purl)

Slip next two sts knitwise (purlwise), one at a time, to right-hand needle. Insert tip of left-hand needle into fronts of these sts from left to right and knit (purl) them together to decrease one stitch.

slip stitch

In knitting, pass a stitch from the left-hand to the right-hand needle as if to purl without working it. In crochet, insert hook through loop or edge, yarn over and pull through loop on hook. (U.K.: abbreviation—ss or sc)

work even

Continue in specified pattern without increasing or decreasing. (U.K.: work straight)

yarn over

In knitting, make a new stitch by placing the yarn over the right-hand needle. (U.K.: yfwd, yon, yrn) In crochet, wind yarn around hook. (U.K.: yoh or yrh)
