This season the Rowan design studio show how easy it is to be inspired by garments featured within the collections and transform them into beautiful homeware pieces.

With the backdrop of a beautiful Georgian house, 'Rustic Home' presents projects ranging from a sophisticated wall hanging inspired by Fyne (Highlander) to a diaphanous curtain panel using Earth Stripe (Highlander) as a starting point.

Knits Again* is a hardback, price £20.00

The two books I am bringing out this autumn with Rowan are both celebrations of colour but expressed in two very different mediums. Kaffe Knits Again presented me with the opportunity to approach some of my original Rowan designs from a new perspective, sometimes with new yarns. Quilts in the Sun, the ninth in my series of patchwork books for Rowan, catches a different expression of my passion for colour, and the excitement of working with fabrics and colours.

Knitting or Patchwork?

The two crafts have very different satisfactions. Knitting is a very manual skill, where you quite physically mould the colours into patterns. This has a great therapeutic element that makes it addictive to do. Patchwork involves finding (or designing in my case) a range of fabrics that create a harmony and arranging them in classic old patchwork patterns. Getting the pattern geometry right is more cerebral and the choosing and arranging of coloured fabrics is far quicker to do than knitting, although the sewing and quilting bring on the physical contact with fabrics. Although I love the immediacy of collaging fabric prints together ultimately the experience is not as therapeutic as knitting.

But because there is a myth in the knitting fraternity that colour knitting is very complicated, and only the most experienced knitters can try it, a lot of my patterned knits are passed over for simpler looking fare. Therefore, in Kaffe Knits Again, I am giving all those nervous knitters another chance! I've reinterpreted in current yarns some of my favourite patterns from years past that I feel deserve a second chance. Mostly I've stuck to the original weight of yarn but you can translate any of these motifs into furnishings and change the size of the yarns and colours according to your mood or design. It is quite fascinating to see how a small and tidy motif, originally done in a fine yarn, become big and blousy when knitted on larger needles in a chunky weight.

Lessons learned

When I look back over my past work I can see some definite changes. In the beginning I was just enjoying splashing about with lots of colours and applying them to all the patterns I discovered in the decorative arts in books and museums. There was a "kid in the candy store" abandon about it all. After a few years I started thinking: "What do I really want to see people wearing or how do I want the colours in a quilt to affect the room?" This made me start to refine my colour thinking, to create quieter intensities. In the knitting I brought down the contrasts and made my patterned knits less like circus posters, more close toned and wearable. In patchwork I started doing colour schemes that were less riots of multi-colours and more shades of a colour, with accents or kick colours. It is a study that never ends and always keeps me fascinated.

Finding the locations

Being able to design fabrics for the patchwork, as I do for Rowan, is a heaven sent opportunity. It's like dreaming up just the desired tone and making the paints for painting. But creating an exciting new quilt is only half the job if you are going to share it with a public who might want to make it for themselves. Showing it to advantage is the next important step and a hugely enjoyable one, and one that is just as important for the knits too.

We spend months dreaming about, and hunting for, locations that will help quilts and knits reveal the aesthetic work we have put into them. There are few things more satisfying than seeing a new work come together in the right setting with the right light caught by the right photographer – Debbie Patterson for Quilts in the Sun, with her great feeling for colour composition and light, and Sheila Rock for Kaffe Knits Again, with her wonderful eye for textural detail and human interaction.

So where to choose? For Quilts in the Sun, I had already decided Portugal had to be the place to shoot, as the wonderful blue and white tiles would be the perfect foil for the quilts in this book. One of the things I love about old 'tile cultures' – Morocco, Mexico and Spain – is the connection it has with scrappy patchwork. You often see old tiled walls patched with any old pattern even if the colours don't match. I particularly love this funky patching. In an old Carmelite convent we visited, one staircase was completely tiled in a mad jumble of squares from many different panels so heads, hands, scrolls and bits of houses created a delicious blue and white jazzy mix. I return from these sunny places to the overcast light of an English winter much more confident in my passion for colour.

For the knit book, after the joy of playing with new colours and shapes, the location to show off these knits was the problem. I wanted sympathetic colours and textures where my patterns and colours would feel at home and look their best. As I cast my mind over the many possible places I'd seen in my travels up and down the British Isles, it struck me that the no place has as much atmosphere and colour as Charleston House in Sussex. This was a house filled with beautiful handmade surfaces lovingly created by the artists that made it their home in the early 1900s. Duncan Grant, Vanessa Bell, Dora Carrington and many others painted murals, furniture and floors as well as needle-pointing, rug-making and decorating lamps and pottery. Most objects in the house have a painterly surface in a wonderful palette.

When the models took up their positions in these rooms in my garments, they became figures in a tapestry. My cushions and throws look so at home that you would think they were made for the place. All of us on the book team were amazed by the rightness of my designs nestled in the ambience of Charleston House.

These days I travel the world teaching workshops and giving visual talks for about one third of the year. What I love about this life in crafts as apposed to fine art is that I can easily encourage others to come on board. Even quite timid souls soon find playing with colour in these practical ways – knitting and patchwork – are fun and deeply satisfying; when I get home from my trips I make even more works to turn those makers and experimenters on!

When I advise absolute beginners to these crafts I say, 'don't be afraid of colour – using a lot of colour is far easier than making a limited amount interesting. Over do it at first and don't worry about technical perfection. You will get bored being an over-the-top slob after a while and refine your act, but do splash out and find that inner child!'

how to wear colour

Have you ever wondered why certain colours make you look and feel great whilst others have the opposite effect? We all have unique skin tone, hair and eye colour and consequently knowing which colours look good on you will make you appear more attractive, healthier and feel more confident. At Rowan we decided to investigate this further by seeking the advice of a colour analyst, who analysed the colours of each member of our design team.

Lisa and Amanda are both Summer and selected garments from Reflection. Lisa is wearing 'Hanover' and Amanda is wearing the 'Geneva' camisole and cardigan, which she decided to change from Kidsilk Haze to Kidsilk Spray. As Summer is a blue based colour group, they both recoloured the designs into cold blues and greys. Amanda's reaction was one of surprise saying, "Blue is not a colour I would have considered wearing, as I normally like to wear black or neutral colours, neither of which are in the Summer palette!"

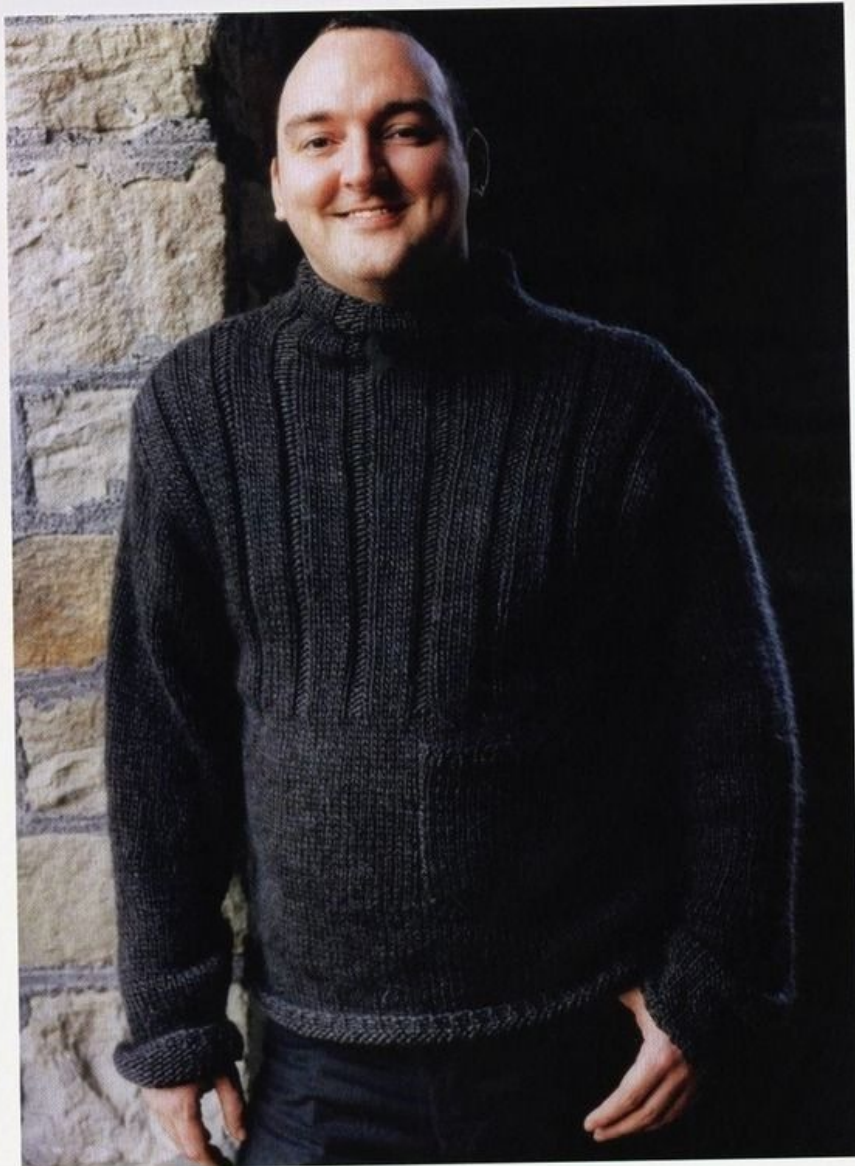

Marie's colour group is Spring which is yellow based. Green is an important colour to the Spring palette so Marie was delighted when she learnt that she was Spring. She decided to wear the 'Rannoch' dress from Highlander but as a pinafore - without the sleeves. Marie commented, "Green is one of my favourite colours and therefore I was really pleased that it is in my palette. I decided to wear the 'Rannoch' dress as a pinafore as this way it gives me more choice to how I can wear it."

Colour theory can simply be explained by the colour wheel. The colour wheel which is based on the primary colours of red, yellow and blue was first developed in the 17th century by Sir Isaac Newton. Since then, scientists and artists have designed and adapted this concept. However all colour wheels are based on the following principals. The primary colours of red, yellow and blue cannot be formed in any combinations of any other colours, therefore all colours are derived from these three hues. The colours formed from mixing the primary colours are called secondary colours and these are green, orange and purple. Tertiary colours are then the colours formed by mixing a primary and secondary colour. These are normally known by two words such as red-orange and blue-green. All other colours that we know are then made by mixing combinations of all these colours.

The colour analyst uses the colour wheel to show which colour group we belong to. These groups are known by the seasons - Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter. Spring and Autumn are yellow based and therefore the colours tend to be warm. Summer and Winter are blue based and therefore the colours tend to be colder. To determine which season a person belongs to, the colour analyst lays various colour swatches next to the skin to show which hues enhance the person's appearance.

Once the design team knew which season they belonged to, they then selected a design from the collections and recoloured it in their own individual colours. In some cases with surprising results.

One of only two men within the design studio, Lee's colour group is also Spring. However, Lee was hoping that the warmer brown tones would be his best colours but surprisingly geranium pink was found to be his most flattering colour! The design he chose to wear was 'Frost' from Tundra. As this garment is in our new yarn Coco there is not a geranium pink in the palette, so he was pleased that he could choose a warm brown shade after.

Ann, Laura and Lyndsay all belong to the Autumn colour group. Autumn like Spring is a yellow based palette therefore the colours tend to be warmer. Ann recoloured 'Cologne' from Reflection into a soft neutral green highlighted with rust tones. After the colour analysis Ann said, "I went home and looked through my wardrobe and realised that luckily most of my clothes fitted within the palette. The ones that didn't are clothes that I don't often wear or feel comfortable in." Laura decided to wear the 'Geneva' camisole and cardigan from Reflection and recoloured it into warm chocolate tones. Lyndsay, who is expecting her first baby this Summer, chose 'Earn' from Highlander in a longer length version. She decided on this particular design as it flattered her 'bump' and she recoloured it into lovely soft chestnut tones.

Gemma who has only recently joined the design department was found to belong to the Autumn colour group. She looks stunning in the berry coloured 'Bridges' from Reflection.

Shubhen and Sarah are both Winter. Winter is a blue based palette in which the colours tend to be cleaner, brighter and colder. Both of them decided to choose colours from the grey side of the palette. Shubhen wears 'Rugged' from Tundra and Sarah wears 'Bridges' from Reflection. Sarah said, "I was delighted to belong to the Winter palette as it is the only palette which features black!"

Julie who is also Winter decided to choose a bright colour from the palette, and she looks great in the bright pink 'Dinah' from Reflection.

Elizabeth who again belongs to the Winter colour group wears the very flattering 'Doon' coat from Highlander. She decided to recolour the design into a beautiful rich wine colour. Finally Andrea who is Autumn wears the 'Cologne' cardigan from Reflection in a lovely warm green colour, highlighted with rich gold and rust tones.

We hope that you agree our design team look fabulous in the garments and colours they selected and that we have encouraged you to look at the colours you normally wear

Martin Storey is one of Rowan's favourite and most prolific designers. He has been the sole designer for the hugely successful Rowan Classic brand since its conception 4 years ago. This season sees the launch of a new book from Martin, 'Classic Knits for Men' follows in the wake of the widely acclaimed 'Classic Knits for Real Women'. In the new book Martin has collaborated with friend and Hobbs designer Wendy Baker to create Rowan's first book dedicated to designs for men. "There is always a great demand for classic men's patterns such as slipovers, jackets and guernseys," he says. "Classic Knits for Real Women was so well received all over the world, so Wendy and I wanted to create another range of garments that reflect English knitwear at its best." The patterns use a range of rustic and tweedy yarns from Rowan including Rowan Scottish Tweed and the Cashsoft family of yarns to give a classic feel with a fashionable nod to styling of the 50's and 60's."

He studied at Middlesex Polytechnic in North London, which is now Middlesex University, in the heady 80s when the design department was a hot bed of the most influential and creative minds. He mixed with the likes of fashion designers David Holah and Stevie Stewart, also known as Bodymap, as well as Jewellers, Dower and Hall. "It was hard work and the tutors were tough, but we had an incredible sense of creative freedom and we were encouraged to experiment," says Martin.

After graduating from this vibrant community, Martin was pounding the streets of London and doing the rounds of a number of fashion companies that he thought he would like to work for when he knocked on designer label, Artwork's, door: "It was a stroke of luck that I turned up with my portfolio the day Jane Gottelier started to look for a new assistant – I started then and there." As part of the Artwork team for 15 years, Martin was involved in creating their most sought after signature denim knits in the 90s, selling all over the world. He found his job both rewarding and inspiring: "It gave me fantastic opportunities to work with many different fibres and yarns and invent lots of new and unusual stitches. I loved developing quirky 3D stitches or unusual cables that looked like twisted ropes or shells and seahorses."

Already having a good relationship with Rowan while he was at Artwork, it was a very natural step for him to become the new designer for Jaeger and from there to spearhead the new Rowan brand, Rowan Classic, when it was launched in 2005. Today he is responsible for pulling together several brochures a year under the Rowan Classic banner which has become the hallmark for classic style with a modern twist.

With all these designs to create, how does Martin manage to stay inspired? "So many different things influence my work from music and film to a vintage piece of knitwear I see someone wearing on a London street. I always make sure I have a notebook close by to jot down what I see or make a little sketch to remind me," he explains. He also makes sure he is up to date with all the latest trend information and catwalk commentaries and is often found in charity shops and vintage textile stores looking for that interesting cuff detail or embellishment. "Magazines are also a great source of inspiration – Selvedge is one of my favourites."

Martin moved to Ilfracombe in Devon from London just 2 years ago. "London is a vibrant and exciting city and I still visit regularly to keep up with all the latest trends and exhibitions. I had reached a point in my career where I needed space to reflect and Ilfracombe gives me just that together with the kind of light and views you only get beside the sea. It's amazing how much a walk on the beach can do to help your creativity."

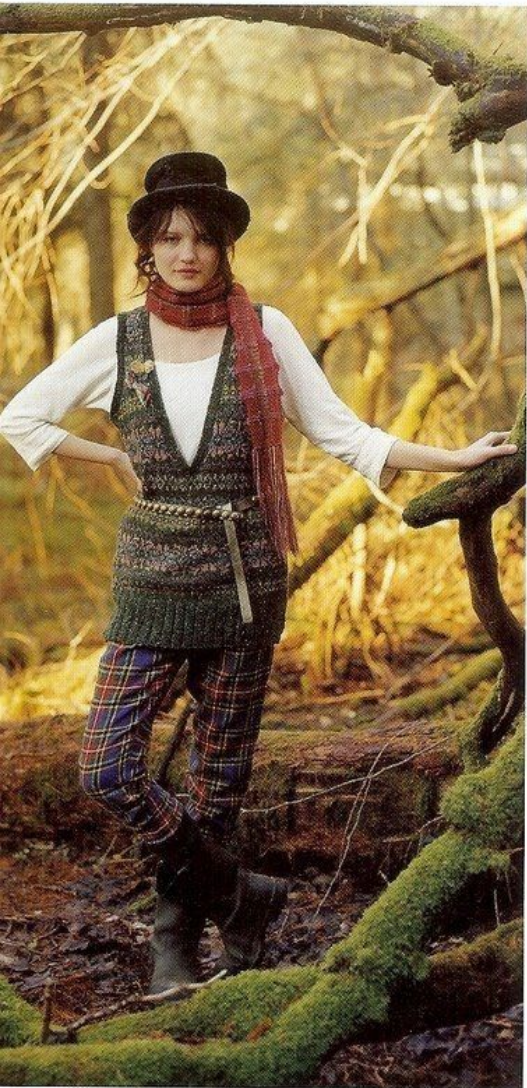

There is a strong feeling of the rugged outdoors in Martin's next book due out in Autumn 2007. For Classic Knits for Men, he has teamed up with Hobbs designer, Wendy Baker, to bring you Rowan's first book dedicated to designs for men. "There is always a great demand for classic men's patterns such as slipovers, jackets and guernseys," he says. "Classic Knits for Real Women was so well received all over the world, that Wendy and I wanted to create another range of garments to reflect English knitwear at its best." The patterns use a range of rustic and tweedy yarns from Rowan including Rowan Scottish Tweed and the Cashsoft family of yarns to give a classic feel with a fashionable nod to the styling of the 50s and 60s.

Martin is, without a doubt a very influential designer, his understanding of what knitters want together with a fantastic eye for texture and embellishment make his garments a joy to wear.

FAIRISLE KNITTING

Colour and pattern feature in all our stories this season especially Highlander. To achieve these beautiful colourful garments like Maree and Fyne a knitting technique known as fairisle is used.

Fairisle is the term used for stocking stitch patterns using two or more colours of yarn for each row, therefore creating a double thickness fabric. The secret of working fairisle is to keep the fabric elastic, by not pulling the yarn not in use tight across the back of the work. The yarns are worked together across the row, and then the yarn not in use can either be stranded or woven in across the back of the fabric. When worked properly, the yarns should remain untangled at the end of every row.

THE STRANDING METHOD

The stranding method involves carrying the yarn not in use loosely across the back of the work. It is advisable not to strand the yarn over more than three stitches. If you do so, you will create a large loop that can get caught up and distort the fabric. There are different ways of holding the yarn when stranding – holding one yarn at a time, holding both yarns in the right hand, or one yarn in each hand. Choose the method you feel most comfortable with.

For the garments in this magazine we have mainly used the stranding method.

The following will show how to knit a simple vertical stripe

HOLDING ONE YARN AT A TIME

1 On a knit row, insert the right needle into the next stitch. Pick up the blue yarn in the right hand, take it over the pink yarn and knit three stitches.

2 Drop the blue yarn and pick up the pink yarn. Knit the next three stitches

3 Continue in this way, keeping the stitches on the right needle spread out. This will stop you pulling the strands too tight, and keep the work elastic.

4 On a purl row, insert the right needle into the next stitch. Pick up the blue yarn in the right hand, take it over the pink yarn and purl three stitches.

5 Drop the blue yarn and pick up the pink yarn, taking it under the blue yarn. Purl three stitches.

TIP

Always try to keep the same colour yarn up and the same colour yarn down when stranding yarns. This will stop them tangling.

HOLDING YARN IN RIGHT HAND

1 On a knit row, insert the right needle into the next stitch, holding both yarns together in the right hand as if one yarn.

2 Using the index finger, loop the blue yarn over the pink yarn and knit the next three stitches.

3 Drop the blue yarn off the index finger, then loop the pink yarn with the index finger and take it under the blue yarn. Knit the next three stitches.

4 On a purl row, insert the right needle into the next stitch, holding both yarns together in the right hand as if one yarn.

5 Using the index finger, loop the blue yarn over the pink yarn and purl the next three stitches.

6 Drop the blue yarn off the index finger, then loop the pink yarn with the index finger and take it under the blue yarn. Purl the next three stitches.

TIP

To keep the fabric a double thickness throughout, catch in the yarn not in use at the beginning of each row.

HOLDING YARN IN BOTH HANDS

1 On a knit row, hold the blue yarn in the left hand and the pink yarn in the right. Knit the next three stitches with the blue yarn.

2 Take the pink yarn forward in the right hand, across the top of the blue yarn, and knit the next three stitches, holding the blue yarn away from the needle.

3 With the blue yarn in the left hand, knit the next three stitches

4 On a purl row, hold the blue yarn over the left thumb in the left hand and the pink yarn in the right hand. Insert the right needle in the next stitch.

5 Take the pink yarn forward in the right hand and purl the next three stitches, holding the blue yarn away from the tip of the right needle.

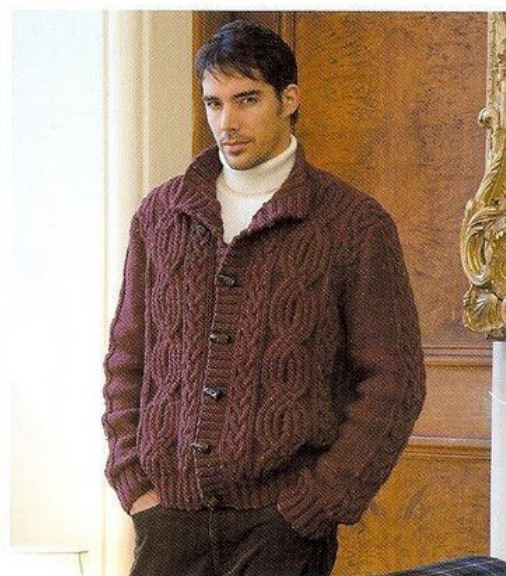

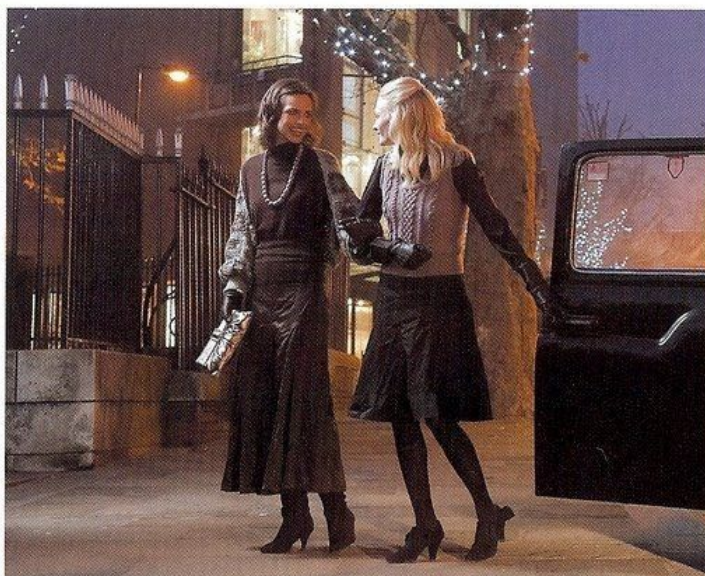

6 Purl the next three stitches with the blue yarn, using the left thumb and index finger. Keep hold of the blue yarn until the needle goes through the stitch.

TIP

Spread out the stitches on both needles to help keep the tension/gauge correct and the fabric elastic

Sometimes it is necessary to carry a colour over more than three stitches across the back of the work. In such cases, you need to catch the loop of yarn being carried across the work every third or fourth stitch. We have put all the details of how to do this and intarsia techniques for working with colour on www.knitrowan.com

Sabrina Gschwandtner

"Travelling to meet all of these people ... to see where they work, to meet those closest to them, to try on the knit items they had described to me over email, to look at the views from their windows, to check out their yarn supplies, to get fed by them or take them out to lunch... was an immersive, exhilarating, and intimate experience. I got to hear what drew them to knitting, to understand how their work had developed, and to guess with them at why knitting has gotten so popular"

ROWAN SIZING GUIDE

When you knit and wear a Rowan design we want you to look and feel fabulous. This all starts with the size and fit of the design you choose. To help you to achieve a great knitting experience we have looked at the sizing of our womens and menswear patterns. This has resulted in the introduction of our new sizing guide which includes the following exciting features:

Our sizing now conforms to standard clothing sizes. Therefore if you buy a standard size 12 in clothing, then our size 12 or Medium patterns will fit you perfectly.

We have extended the size range of our patterns, with over half of the designs shown being available to knit from size 8 to 22, or Small through to Xlarge.

The menswear designs are now available to knit in menswear sizes Small through to XXlarge ie. 40" to 48" chest.

Dimensions in the charts below are body measurements, not garment dimensions, therefore please refer to the measuring guide to help you to determine which is the best size for you to knit.

CASUAL SIZING GUIDE FOR WOMEN

As there are some designs that are intended to fit more generously, we have introduced our casual sizing guide. The designs that fall into this group can be recognised by the size range: Small, Medium, Large & Xlarge. Each of these sizes cover two sizes from the standard sizing guide, ie. Size S will fit sizes 8/10, size M will fit sizes 12/14 and so on.

The sizing within this chart is also based on the larger size within the range, ie. M will be based on size 14.

MEASURING GUIDE

For maximum comfort and to ensure the correct fit when choosing a size to knit, please follow the tips below when checking your size.

Measure yourself close to your body, over your underwear and don't pull the tape measure too tight!

Bust/chest – measure around the fullest part of the bust/chest and across the shoulder blades.

Hips – measure around the fullest part of the bottom.

If you don't wish to measure yourself, note the size of a favourite jumper that you like the fit of. Our sizes are now comparable to the clothing sizes from the major high street retailers, so if your favourite jumper is a size Medium or size 12, then our casual size Medium and standard size 12 should be approximately the same fit.

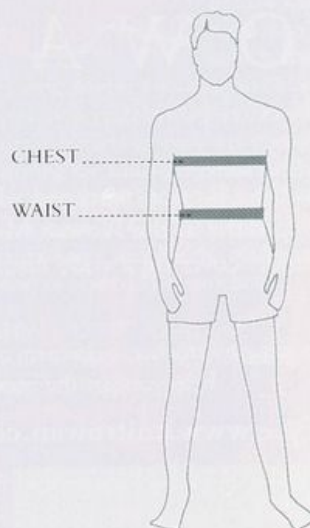

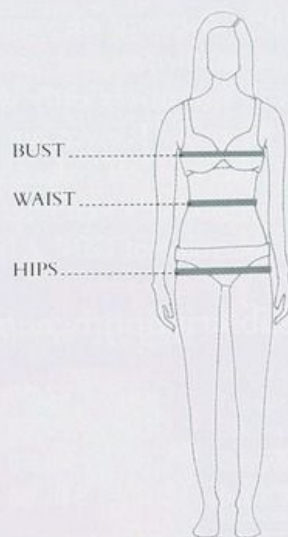

To be extra sure, measure your favourite jumper and then compare these measurements with the Rowan size diagram given at the end of the individual instructions.

Finally, once you have decided which size is best for you, please ensure that you achieve the tension required for the design you wish to knit.

Remember if your tension is too loose, your garment will be bigger than the pattern size and you may use more yarn. If your tension is too tight, your garment could be smaller than the pattern size and you will have yarn left over.

Furthermore if your tension is incorrect, the handle of your fabric will be too stiff or floppy and will not fit properly. It really does make sense to check your tension before starting every project.

BEADS – approx 750 [790; 820; 910; 950;

TENSION

28 sts and 36 rows to 10 cm measured over stocking stitch using 3¼mm (US 3) needles.

SPECIAL ABBREVIATIONS

bead 1 = place a bead by bringing yarn to front (RS) of work and slipping bead up next to st just worked, slip next st purlwise from left needle to right needle and take yarn back to back (WS) of work, leaving bead sitting in front of slipped st on RS.

Beading note: Before starting to knit, thread beads onto yarn. To do this, thread a fine sewing needle (one that will easily pass through the beads) with sewing thread. Knot ends of thread and then pass end of yarn through this loop. Thread a bead onto sewing thread and then gently slide it along and onto knitting yarn. Continue in this way until required number of beads are on yarn. Do not place beads on edge sts of rows as this will interfere with sewing-up.

Cont straight until sleeve meas 59 [61: 63: 65: 67] cm, ending with RS facing for next row. Cast off.

MAKING UP

Press as described on the information page.

Join right shoulder seam using back stitch, or mattress stitch if preferred.

Neckband

With RS facing, using 3¼mm (US 5) needles and yarn A, pick up and knit 26 [26: 27: 29: 30] sts down left side of neck, 12 sts from front, 26 [26: 27: 29: 30] sts up right side of neck, then 50 [50: 52: 52: 54] sts from back. 114 [114: 118: 122: 126] sts.

Row 1 (WS): P2, *K2, P2, rep from * to end.

Row 2: K2, *P2, K2, rep from * to end.

Rep last 2 rows until neckband meas 9 cm from pick-up row, ending with RS facing for next row.

Cast off in rib.

Side panels (both alike)

With RS facing, using 4mm (US 6) needles and yarn C, pick up and knit 85 [87: 85: 87: 85] sts evenly along row-end edge of front, between cast-off sts at top of rib and marker at base of armhole.

Beg and ending rows as indicated, using the fairisle technique as described on the information page, work from chart for side panel, which is worked entirely in st st beg with a P row, for 25 rows, ending with RS facing for next row.

Cast off.

Join side seams of rib, then sew cast-off edge of side panel to corresponding row-end edge of back, slip stitching row-end edge of side panel to cast-off sts at top of rib.

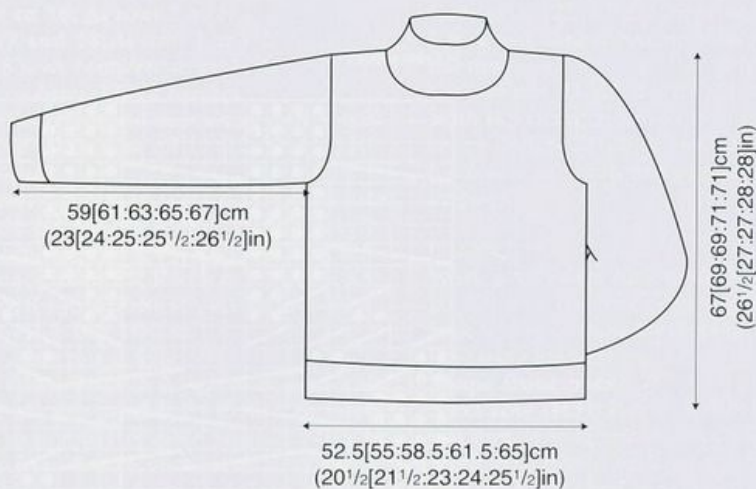

Shoulder patches (both alike)

Using 4mm (US 6) needles and yarn C cast on 47 [49: 51: 53: 55] sts.

Beg and ending rows as indicated, using the fairisle technique as described on the information page, work from chart for shoulder patch, which is worked entirely in st st beg with a K row, for 26 rows, ending with RS facing for next row.

Cast off.

See information page for finishing instructions, setting in sleeves using the square set-in method. Using photograph as a guide, sew shoulder patches over shoulder seams.

INFORMATION

TENSION

Obtaining the correct tension is perhaps the single factor which can make the difference between a successful garment and a disastrous one. It controls both the shape and size of an article, so any variation, however slight, can distort the finished garment. Different designers feature in our books and it is their tension, given at the start of each pattern, which you must match. We recommend that you knit a square in pattern and/or stocking stitch (depending on the pattern instructions) of perhaps 5 - 10 more stitches and 5 - 10 more rows than those given in the tension note. Mark out the central 10cm square with pins. If you have too many stitches to 10cm try again using thicker needles, if you have too few stitches to 10cm try again using finer needles. Once you have achieved the correct tension your garment will be knitted to the measurements indicated in the size diagram shown at the end of the pattern.

SIZING & SIZE DIAGRAM NOTE

The instructions are given for the smallest size. Where they vary, work the figures in brackets for the larger sizes. One set of figures refers to all sizes. Included with most patterns in this magazine is a 'size diagram', or sketch of the finished garment and its dimensions. To help you choose the size of garment to knit please refer to the NEW sizing guide on page 102.

CHART NOTE

Many of the patterns in the book are worked from charts. Each square on a chart represents a stitch and each line of squares a row of knitting. Each colour used is given a different letter and these are shown in the materials section, or in the key alongside the chart of each pattern. When working from the charts, read odd rows (K) from right to left and even rows (P) from left to right, unless otherwise stated.

KNITTING WITH COLOUR

There are two main methods of working colour into a knitted fabric: Intarsia and Fairisle techniques. The first method produces a single thickness of fabric and is usually used where a colour is only required in a particular area of a row and does not form a repeating pattern across the row, as in the fairisle technique.

Intarsia: The simplest way to do this is to cut short lengths of yarn for each motif or block of colour used in a row. Then joining in the various colours at the appropriate point on the row, link one colour to the next by twisting them around each other where they meet on the wrong side to avoid gaps. All ends can then either be darned along the colour join lines, as each motif is completed or then can be "knitted-in" to the fabric of the knitting as each colour is worked into the pattern. This is done in much the same way as "weaving-in" yarns when working the Fairisle technique and does save time darning-in ends. It is essential that the tension is noted for Intarsia as this may vary from the stocking stitch if both are used in the same pattern.

Fair isle type knitting: When two or three colours are worked repeatedly across a row, strand the yarn not in use loosely behind the stitches being worked. If you are working with more than two colours, treat the "floating" yarns as if they were one yarn and always spread the stitches to their correct width to keep them elastic. It is advisable not to carry the stranded or "floating" yarns over more than three stitches at a time, but to weave them under and over the colour you are working. The "floating" yarns are therefore caught at the back of the work.

FINISHING INSTRUCTIONS

After working for hours knitting a garment, it seems a great pity that many garments are spoiled because such little care is taken in the pressing and finishing process. Follow the following tips for a truly professional-looking garment.

PRESSING

Block out each piece of knitting and following the instructions on the ball band press the garment pieces, omitting the ribs. Tip: Take special care to press the edges, as this will make sewing up both easier and neater. If the ball band indicates that the fabric is not to be pressed, then covering the blocked out fabric with a damp white cotton cloth and leaving it to stand will have the desired effect. Darn in all ends neatly along the selvage edge or a colour join, as appropriate.

STITCHING

When stitching the pieces together, remember to match areas of colour and texture very carefully where they meet. Use a seam stitch such as back stitch or mattress stitch for all main knitting seams and join all ribs and neckband with mattress stitch, unless otherwise stated.

CONSTRUCTION

Having completed the pattern instructions, join left shoulder and neckband seams as detailed above. Sew the top of the sleeve to the body of the garment using the method detailed in the pattern, referring to the appropriate guide:

Straight cast-off sleeves: Place centre of cast-off edge of sleeve to shoulder seam. Sew top of sleeve to body, using markers as guidelines where applicable.

Square set-in sleeves: Place centre of cast-off edge of sleeve to shoulder seam. Set sleeve head into armhole, the straight sides at top of sleeve to form a neat right-angle to cast-off sts at armhole on back and front.

Shallow set-in sleeves: Place centre of cast off edge of sleeve to shoulder seam. Match decreases at beg of armhole shaping to decreases at top of sleeve. Sew sleeve head into armhole, easing in shapings.

Set-in sleeves: Place centre of cast-off edge of sleeve to shoulder seam. Set in sleeve, easing sleeve head into armhole.

Join side and sleeve seams.

Slip stitch pocket edgings and linings into place.

Sew on buttons to correspond with buttonholes.

Ribbed welts and neckbands and any areas of garter stitch should not be pressed.

WORKING A LACE PATTERN

When working a lace pattern it is important to remember that if you are unable to work both the increase and corresponding decrease and vice versa, the stitches should be worked in stocking stitch.
