"The scarf is one of the most important fashion accessories—one that can make or break an outfit," says Nicky Epstein, author of the just-released Signature Scarves. This one, in rings of cozy wool, is definitely one for the "make" column.

PAUL AMATO FOR L'VAREPRESENTS.COM
HOW-TO PHOTOGRAPHS BY MARCUS TULLIS

When the editors asked me to do a cool scarf for this issue, I immediately went to my Knitting Over the Edge book (published by Sixth & Spring Books) and chose the Hot Wheels Scallop as my design element, because it lends itself well to festive edgework. I picked a retro blue-and-brown color combo to create the striping for the body and then alternated the colors to make the wheels.

(For complete instructions, turn to page 116.) Feel free to customize your scarf with two or more of your favorite colors; I'm planning to make one as a Christmas gift for my niece in either green and red or white and red.

When you have a free moment, check out my updated website, nickyepstein.com, where I'll be blogging about anything and everything. I've posted a free flower pattern on it for you.

1) After you knit the half-wheel, the knitted fabric will pucker, as shown in the photo. 2) Fold the wheel in half at the center turning ridge so that the wrong sides are facing. Sew the cast-on and bound-off edges together as shown, leaving the side edges unsewn. 3) Shown at right are finished half-wheels in alternate colorways. (Note that we used a flat yarn for clarity.)

4) Once the main stockinette striped piece of the scarf is completed, fold it in half lengthwise and seam the edges together using invisible mattress stitch.

5) Sew the short, unsewn edges of the half-wheels around the scarf, working through all thicknesses, as shown.

Few designers are as adept at imbuing intarsia with mood and meaning as Kaffe Fassett. For his drop-shouldered, ribbed-edge Circles cardigan, he turned toward the East. "One of the strongest design influences in my life is the Oriental world," he says. "When I knitted my new [self-striping] 'Colorscape Chunky' into circles, I was struck by the resemblance to setting suns in Japanese prints." The circles are set against a solid claret background of "Scottish Tweed Aran," both by Rowan/Westminster Fibers. For pattern instructions, see page 116.

What comes around, astounds. Colorwork master Kaffe Fassett knits his many-hued magic into a series of circles, awakening a brand-new colorscape reminiscent of twilight in the Land of the Rising Sun.

GREENLAND

"I enjoy designing detailed, body-conscious knits in natural fibers that are as pleasurable to knit as they are to wear," says Melanson, the Toronto resident whose affinity for Canada's climate led her to write the aptly titled New Mittens & Gloves (STC Craft; reviewed on page 32). "Greenland" fits those criteria beautifully. The faux-sulphur-front pullover, with ruffles at the midriff and belted sleeves, is worked in Blue Sky Alpaca's baby-soft 100 percent alpaca "Melange." About the geometric eyelet detailing, Melanson explains, "When the shaping can be worked into the stitch motif, as in the decreasing diamond pattern of the sweater's lower body, I find it brings a look of overall cohesion to a design." Bag by Hayden-Hornett; Debauche boots by FarylRobin. For resources throughout, see page 153.

SVETLANA AVRAKH
NORDIC TRADITION

Svetlana Avraakh knows how to deal with the cold stylishly, having been born in Latvia and emigrating to Canada in 1994 (shortly afterward beginning her tenure as a designer for the Spinnaker companies Patons and Bernat). "I like to design and knit both Fair Isle and cables, so I decided to compromise and combine my favorite techniques," says the designer, whose background in architecture and arts surely informs her "Nordic Tradition" tunic's sculptural A-line shaping, sublime stranded circular yoke and mock turtleneck. Of her chosen yarn, Patons' soy-blend "SWS," Avraakh says, "Winters in Canada are cold, and natural fibers help keep the body warm. 'SWS' offers the warmth of natural fibers, the silkiness of soy and the coziness of wool—it just embodies my love of yarn." FORESTRY

"My intention was to design something a little rustic but appropriate to city life," says Montrealer Avery. Fail accomplish: The raglan-shaped "forestry" cardigan merges an outdoorsy texture and hue of "London Tweed" from Needleful Yarns with urbanity in the form of cain-cabled host panels framed with ribbed bands and a shawl collar. Avery, the creative director for JCA and author of Knitting Classic Style (STC Craft), knows instinctively how to mix the chic and the sheltering, as well as the tactile with the virtual. "For our local knitting group, the Internet has been invaluable," Avery says. "We plan our knit nights on our website and Yahoo! Groups, so we do manage to get out in even the most inclement weather." Coat by Helen Wang at Jeffrey Schwager; skirt by Pazuki at Solà; Hydra boots by Fanyfrobin.

FIONA ELLIS
REDWOODS

"The zigzag cable fits into a category of patterns I seem to return to over and over," says Fiona Ellis, the British-born, longtime Torontonian whose innovations have been documented in Inspired Cable Knits and Inspired Fair Isle Knits (Potter Craft). "I love patterns that can be started halfway through the row repeats. When you do this, the lines that are formed move in opposition to the ones produced when you start at the beginning of the pattern." "Redwoods," in Plymouth Yarn's sumptuous "Royal Llama Silk," includes an Ellis signature, the I-cord drawstring, closing the ribbed neckline. "I-cords work so well as a detail on a cabled sweater. I envision them as cords from the pattern spilling out from the garment." Bag by Christopher Ken at Sola.

MAIE LANDRA
WOODLANDS

Koigu Wool Designs, says fan Stephanie Pearl-McPhee, is "part of Canada's plan to take over the world." It's a statement that makes Maie and Taisi Landra, the mother/daughter team behind the esteemed hand-painted-yarn company, chuckle with delight. "It's funny," says Taisi, "because we find that most people don't actually know we're Canadian." The Estonian-born Maie says this oversize Fair Isle vest, in Koigu's "Kersti," is ideal "to wear over outer garments or a chunky sweater for extra winter warmth. The two-color Fair Isle bands (geometric in patterning) add flair. And a nice pin will also add a lot"; wear it to secure the patcher-stitch edging. DREAMCATCHER

This bag, an unexpected tour de force knit circularly in Tradewind Knits' "Celestial Blue Faced Aran" and felted, is "an exploration of playing with snowflakes, the way I did as a child, when I cut them out of paper and arranged the patterns," says Lucy Neatby, the brains behind Tradewinds Knitwear Designs. Neatby moved from Great Britain to Halifax sixteen years ago, and her adopted climate has a hand in her work. "It's definitely an influence of living in Canada; I love the winter and adore snow. This snowflake is arranged as a decreasing mirror image." The double-knit strap, worked and felted separately then attached, reflects Neatby's desire to "convert the world" to this particular technique, one of her favorites. Shoes by Elisa Ferrari at Sola.

MACS KANDIS
FALL BLOOMS

"Keeping warm in an 1860s Ontario farmhouse can be a challenge. As a crafty gal, doing it in a stylish and knitterly way is a wonderful design challenge," says Kandis, founder and designer of Mission Falls yarn and author of Folk Style (Interweave). "Slipper socks and mukluks are de rigueur when tromping about our 'original'—read as draft-emanating—wood floors."

In that context and so many others, her intarsia Fall Bloom mukluks, worked flat with toe shaping in Mission Falls' "1824 Wool," do the trick. "The fanciful intarsia flowers on the foot cozies not only keep memories of my summer garden alive through the snow and cold, but, come March, enliven my anticipation for real May flowers." Shoes by Elisa Ferrari at Sola.

GAYLE BUNN
NEUTRAL TERRITORY

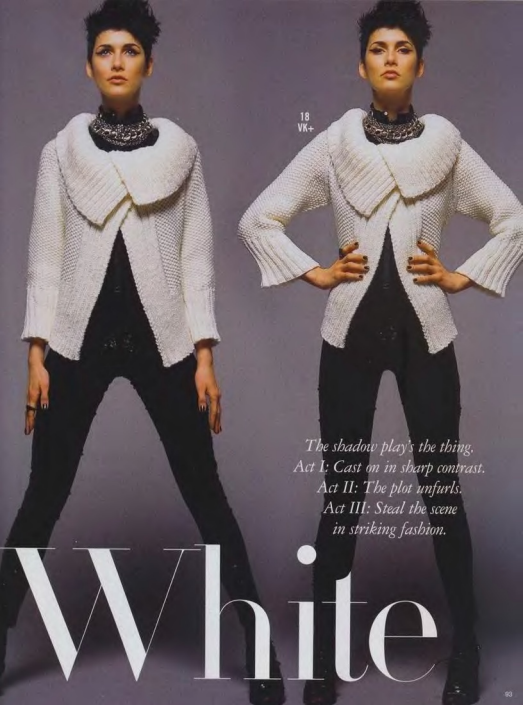

"This sweater is one of my favorites," says prolific Torontonian Gayle Bunn, author of Total Crochet Fashions (Leisure Arts), who describes herself as "a typical Canadian knitter, with about eight projects currently in progress and bags of yarn stashed in every closet. I really had fun with the unique cable that combines twisted rib with conventional cable technique. The bumpy stitch is a great, fuzzy texture that works as a strong contrast with the cable. The bulky alpaca ('Baby Alpaca Chunky' from Cascade Yarns) is a perfect yarn for cold days, which we have lots of up here. It's lofty and so soft—a far cry from the stiff, itchy, heavy wool sweaters I remember from my youth." Bag by Hayden-Harriet.

1) The slightly scalloped look along the outside edging is worked with every 5th stitch on the bind-off row as follows: On a knit stitch, insert the RH needle into the next knit st 4 rows below, as shown.

2) Slip this stitch to LH needle, knit it together with the stitch on the LH needle, as shown.

3) The snowdrop motif is created by working short rows over several stitches in the contrasting colors. Here we show the pattern as it looks after working row 8. It is not necessary to wrap the stitches in the short rows.

4) After row 15 has been completed, work stitches to end of row in the same color as the snowdrop just worked. Stitch snowdrops as described in the pattern. The snowdrop will pucker and leave a small opening at the side edge.

5) After all of the pieces have been completed, you must finish each snowdrop. Cut a small length of matching yarn, and with a tapestry needle weave the thread through the side edge of the snowdrop, as shown.

6) Pull the two ends of the strand together and tie in a knot, as shown. Weave in the ends of the yarn. Finish each snowdrop on the wrong side in this way.

Stitches measured over 2"/5cm.

Rows measured over 2"/5cm.

Note: Gauge should be taken over at least 2"/5cm and preferably over 4"/10cm.

Make a test swatch at least 4"/10cm square. If the number of stitches and rows does not correspond to the gauge given, you must change the needle size. An easy rule to follow is: To get fewer stitches to the inch/cm, use a larger needle; to get more stitches to the inch/cm, use a smaller needle. Continue to try different needle sizes until you get the same number of stitches in the gauge.

Directions are given for the smallest size, with the larger sizes in parentheses. If there is only one figure, it applies to all sizes. VK+ listed under a pattern number indicates that a garment is sized XXL or larger.

basic stitches

* GUIDELINES ONLY: The above reflect the most commonly used gauges and needle or hook sizes for specific yarn categories.

 Lace weight yarns are usually knitted or crocheted on larger needles and hooks to create lace, openwork patterns. Accordingly, a gauge range is difficult to determine. Always follow the gauge stated in your pattern.

 Steel crochet hooks are sized differently from regular hooks—the higher the number, the smaller the hook, which is the reverse of regular hook sizing.
