PATTERN INFORMATION

Knitted seamlessly from the top down, this sweater features a graphic check pattern reminiscent of the iconic check patterning found on the seats of the London Underground. The front yoke, back yoke and raglan sleeves are knit simultaneously in one piece to exactly equal dimensions. Once you arrive at the under-arms, the four sections are separated (front, back, left sleeve, right sleeve). The front and back bodies are joined and knit in the round to the bottom and the generous sleeves are gathered into a fitted cuff. The ribbed neck is doubled-over to give a more solid look and feel.

Finishing

Weave in any ends. Fold down the neck inwards and hold in place with a few stitches.

Wash the entire piece in warm water. Wring out with the help of a towel and lay flat in a warm dry place, carefully re-shaping as you do.

When still a little bit damp, you can iron your sweater with a clean dry cotton tea towel in between the iron and the sweater and press. This will help all the fibres lay flat and give your sweater a professional finish.

Enjoy!
